By CAROLYN WELLS and H. P. TABER

"The daintiest, sunshiniest little novel that has appeared in years."—Baltimore American.

(Frontispiece folder in colors, $1.25)

Here's Ethel Martin, the dearest girl
That ever set men's brains awhirl,
Who captured Black of the Harvard crew,
As good a chap as you ever knew,

And Stewart Havens, the Other Man
Who belonged to the class of the "Also Ran,"

And Robert Gordon, who followed Grace
At any time and to any place,
Though Mrs. Gordon would run away
To the woods of Maine on a Summer day,

Where Captain Haskins sailed his horse
To the blacksmith shop by a compass course,
Apast Aunt Zip
Who owned the Dog

That lived in the yard
Behind the house that Hurd built.

ORCUTT

The Romance of the Sieur De La Salle and His Discovery of the Mississippi

SIX BEAUTIFUL ILLUSTRATIONS IN COLOR

A.C.McCLURG & Co Publishers, Chicago

A story in which the nobility of the theme is matched by the dignity and admirable finish of its literary treatment, and this in turn by the beautiful dress given the book. The bolume has been printed under the superbision of the author himself, at the famous University Press of Cambridge, of which Mr. Orcutt is general manager.

Harpers' New Publications

A Romance of the Twentieth Century—

RULERS OF KINGS

By GERTRUDE ATHERTON

Author of "The Conqueror," "The Aristocrats"

In this volume is pictured the conflict between the two greatest forces in the world—money in America and royalty in Europe. The hero is the son of a colossal millionaire, and illustrates what might be done in the way of power with such vast resources. The heroine is presented as a daughter of a European monarch of this century. While the book is a romance, there are no "adventures," elopements, rescues, or other stock properties. It is an attempt at an accurate historical novel of the present day—the close conflict of American wealth and brains with royalty—the victory falling to the former by virtue of its own dominance.

Later Adventures of Wee Macgreegor

By J. J. BELL

No more delightfully humorous studies of childhood have ever been written than these adventures of this little Scotch laddie, whose advent into literature last season caused something of a sensation. "Wee Macgreegor" now makes his second appearance, together with the other characters of the first volume - the humble Robinson family—the story of whose quiet, domestic life has taken two continents by storm. "Wee Macgreegor" is decidedly an innovation in humorous writing, and his "Later Adventures" will be found as fresh, original, and ingenuous as their predecessors.

16mo, Ornamented Cloth, $1.25

The Steps of Honor

By BASIL KING

Author of "Let Not Man Put Asunder," "In the Garden of Charity," etc.

Harvard College and staid, quiet Cambridge form the background of the story, in which the disclosure of an act of plagiarism, committed by a young college instructor who has written a successful book, leads to the rupture of his love-affair and involves other members of the college community. Every one familiar with Harvard will recognize the fidelity with which Mr. King has portrayed Harvard types of character, and will delight in the university atmosphere so perfectly reproduced.

Post 8vo, Ornamented Cloth, $1.50

The Inventions of the Idiot

By JOHN KENDRICK BANGS

Author of "A House-Boat on the Styx," "The Idiot at Home," etc.

The Idiot is one of Mr. Bangs's most successful and best-known characters. In this book he has all sorts of plans for bettering things generally, which he discusses with the other boarders at Mrs. Smithers-Pedagog's High-Class Home for Single Gentlemen. Among his schemes is one for making things easier for mothers, another for helping beggars to make more money, and other unusual enterprises. The book is full of good-humored fun, and upholds Mr. Bangs's established reputation as a humorist.

NOTES IN SEASON.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. publish to-day "Robert Cavelier," by William Dana Orcutt, the romance of the Sieur de la Salle and his discovery of the Mississippi. The volume contains six illustrations in color.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish on the 20th inst. Robert Neilson Stephens's new book, "The Bright Face of Danger," in which is told the story of the adventures of Henri de Launey, son of the De Launey of La Tournoire, of "An Enemy to the King." The story is said to be Stephens's best work since "Philip Winwood."

D. APPLETON & Co. announce two interesting novels for the latter part of April, viz., "Dorothea," by Maarten Maartens, and "Nancy Stair," by Elinor McCarthy Lane. Maarten Maartens's work is well known and has always been popular in America. Mrs. Lane's "Mills of God," published three years ago, was well received, and her new story will be welcomed by the many who saw in the earlier work so many elements of promise.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish on the 14th inst. "The Inventions of the Idiot," by John Kendrick Bangs, in which the "Idiot" is permitted to unfold his schemes for bettering things generally, how to make things easier for mothers in the management of their children, for helping beggars to make more money, and other unusual enterprises; "Later Adventures of Wee Macgreegor," by J. J. Bell; "The Steps of Honor," by Basil King, the scene of which is laid in Cambridge, Mass., with Harvard as a background; also, Mrs. Atherton's "Rulers of Kings," all of which have already been fully described by us.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish on the 16th inst. "The Panchronicon," by Harold Steele Mackaye, a son of the late dramatist, Steele Mackaye. The author takes Yankees of to-day to the England of Elizabeth, where they have a series of adventures based on the contrast in ideas, customs, and phenomena in general. This is produced through a new kind of aerial machine that flies westward, and which Mr. Mackaye calls "the panchronicon." They will publish on the same date "The Pastime of Eternity," a novel of distinguished charm and interest, by Beatrix Demarest Lloyd. They will publish on the 23d inst. "The Descent of Man," by Edith Wharton, a work that shows this writer's gift for the short story in its full maturity; also, "Cynthia's Rebellion," by A. E. Thomas, the story of a picturesque summer courtship with all the modern complications.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY will publish on the 15th inst. the fourth volume of their Contemporary Men of Letters series, entitled "William Butler Yeats and the Irish Literary Revival," by Horatio Sheafe Krans, who gives a view of the present literary movement in Ireland, laying particular stress upon the leader, Mr. Yeats, but touching also briefly upon all the young writers in Ireland whose work has recently brought them into prominence. On the same date they will also publish "The Picaroons," by Gelett Burgess and Will Irwin, publication of which has been delayed. They have in preparation a new dramatic poem entitled "David," by Cale Young Rice, whose poem "Charles di Tocca" was favorably received last year; also, a new book by Charlotte Perkins Gilman, author of "The Home," entitled "Human Work," in which the author presents a new conception of man as a laborer.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

☞ The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. Brooks, Hildergarde. The Daughters of desperation; il. by Charlotte Harding. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1904. [Mr.] c. 3+161 p. D. cl., †$1.25.

A young man just arrived at Keswick, a small town where he is to act as groomsman to an old friend, is by an odd chain of incidents brought into contact with the "Daughters of desperation" as three pretty young girls call themselves, who are amateur anarchists. They have a plot on hand to rob the very bride to whose wedding the hero is hastening of her silver wedding gifts. They are to be melted and given to the "cause." A most ridiculous succession of scenes ensues, the young man receiving their confidence, as he is thought to be a professional burglar sent to help them. Although fantastic, the story is told with much wit and sarcasm.

That it was at least "the day of the dog" is proven in the story, which is notable for a mixture of humorous and romantic incidents, in which Swallow, a savage bull-dog, plays an important and characteristic part. The first scene is in a barn in a small town near Chicago; a lawyer in search of a fair client wanders into this barn, and later chance throws the client in his path. Swallow however holds sway, and the several uneasy hours spent by lawyer and client with Swallow's antics and their consequences are worthy of description.

Prometheus, the fire-bringer, is the subject of this dramatic poem. He is shown battling against Zeus, and reawakening hope in the hearts of men, when it had been smothered by the revengeful oppressions of the god. "The fire-bringer" is intended as the first number of a trilogy on the Promethean theme, of which "The masque of judgment," already published, is the second part. The action of each work is complete in itself.

The "issue" the story deals with is slavery. Going back to the year 1831 in the South, vivid scenes are given of slave life and the negro rising and the murder of the whites in that year. Clay, Webster and Calhoun are introduced and their views given relative to the best method of ending slavery. Then the reader is carried on to the Civil War, many chapters being devoted to the battles and the final scenes. Negro and white characters are introduced from various ranks of life, all helping to swell the interest.

The publishers explain that the prolonged interval between the publication of vs. 5 and 7 is due to the fact that it was deemed necessary that the last three volumes be prepared at one time, so as to introduce all the late criticism, and to give a proper proportion of the available space to each study; this practically necessitated a thorough revision of all the accumulated material. Vs. 7 and 8 are now in the printers' hands, and will soon be ready for delivery. v. 8 will bring the survey of English and American literature up to date, and besides, will contain several hundred pages of index, giving the position of each excerpt, which it is believed by the editor will be found to be of great value in the use of the work.

A satire on American imperialism in which "Young America" is represented as a good-natured impressionable young man, who has lately come into his inheritance, his indulgent father, Old America, having passed away in the Spanish-American war. Young America falls into moral and political difficulties, and eventually marries Miss Empire, whose domineering ways and extravagance are the causes of his entanglement and war with the Philippines. The dialogue is often humorous, even though the action is dramatic.

A novel first published in Japan in 1900, where it attained great popularity, having an unprecedented sale for Japan. It now bears the distinction of being the first novel translated into English from modern Japanese literature. The plot deals with the singular marriage and divorce customs of Japan. According to the Confucian system of ethics, a mother may divorce her son's wife without his knowledge or consent, and it is this rule the author has used as a basis of his plot. The hero is a naval officer, vivid descriptions being given of the battle between the Japanese and Chinese fleets off the Yalu and another of Port Arthur during the Japanese occupation. Realistically sets forth the rapidly changing moral, religious and social opinion of the Japanese.

APRIL 9, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

SHORT WEIGHT.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Recently there came from the press of a publishing house in this country a book, priced at $1.50 retail, professing to contain 257 pages. By actual count, however, the book contains only 210 pages of reading matter, eighteen to twenty double-leaded lines to the page—altogether about 4000 short lines—printed on thick paper with wide margins. The reading matter begins on the 17th page, and preceding that is a preface of a page and a half. Looked at from the outside, it might pass for a $1.25 book.

It is simply preposterous to charge a customer $1.08 for such a book that ought not to cost above 75 cents. The publisher who puts out such books is not acting wisely, to say the least, and is placing the bookseller in an awkward position. What is the remedy for this sort of thing? ——— ———.

The remedy for such practices is a simple one, it seems to us. Let the bookseller warn the publisher who pursues such a suicidal policy, and refuse to handle his books on the ground that they are "short weight." Large and widely-spaced type, broad margins and thick paper, desirable as they may be in certain classes of books, do not make up value to the purchaser of an ordinary book; and if such a book also contains almost sixty pages less than it pretends to call for, it is a fraud that should be scotched by every bookseller who is jealous of his reputation for fair dealing. In every such case, if the customer insists upon having the book, let him be informed of the exact facts so that the bookseller may not be reproached when the fraud is discovered.

Undue padding, whether by the use of unnecessarily large and widely-spaced type, thick paper, or the skipping of folios, is as dishonest a practice in publishing as the giving of short weight and measure is in the grocer's or draper's business. There are laws —in many states very stringent laws—protecting the buyer against short weights; in the booktrade there should be an unwritten law, rigidly enforced by the bookseller, to protect the public against such sharp practice as that to which our correspondent calls attention. It would not require many lessons to bring an unscrupulous publisher to his senses.

The same rule might apply to inflated prices. If in cases where publishers are short-sighted enough—whether through miscalculation or wilfully—to put an inordinately high price on a book, let the bookseller and bookbuyer express their reprobation of such a practice by letting such a book alone. A crowded bin of high-priced, and therefore unsalable books would be more potent in moving a publisher to mend his ways than almost any or all other known expedients. No bookbuyer, be he a private individual or public institution, objects to paying a reasonable price for a well-made book. It is therefore just as important for the publisher to consider the just quality of the makeup of his book and the relation of the price thereto as it is for him to weigh its literary merit. A wilful neglect of either one of these factors will sooner or later spell ruin for its sponsor.

THE Board of Managers of The Booksellers' League is making an appeal to the heads of publishing and bookselling firms in New York City and neighborhood, to interest themselves in extending the membership of the organization, that should not fail to meet with consideration and a hearty response. The League during its ten years' existence has aimed to bring together in a social way the men employed in publishing houses and bookstores, and, incidentally to provide entertainment of a sort that should furnish either practical instruction or help to generally broaden and deepen the views and opinions of its members on trade or related subjects. As an educating factor in the booktrade The Booksellers' League deserves the recognition of the heads of the houses who profit directly through the elevation of the standard of efficiency and the higher education of its clerks. The League has never asked for pecuniary assistance, and does not now; its managers simply suggest that in the large number of cases where clerks feel that they cannot afford to associate themselves with the League, their employers invest in a membership for their clerks, either as a reward for merit to their employees or in recognition and support of the good work the League is doing for the booktrade in general.

IMPORTATION OF BOOKS UNDER COPYRIGHT ACT OF JANUARY 7, 1904.

THE following memorandum was forwarded by the Register of Copyrights to the Librarian of Congress, under date of March 19, 1904:

The Assistant Secretary of State transmits an inquiry from the German ambassador as to whether the act of January 7, 1904, to afford protection to exhibitors of foreign literary, artistic, or musical works at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition "also removes the interdiction of importation," and whether under this act such works may be imported into the United States during the interim term of protection, of two years from the date of registration in the Copyright Office.

The question of importation under the copyright laws must be concerned either with (a) the importation of copies of the authorized editions of the works claiming copyright protection; or (b) the importation of copies of unauthorized, illicit reproductions of such works.

The prohibition of importation of illicit reproductions is essential to copright protection, and is provided for in the United States laws by section 4964 of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the act of March 3, 1891, and by section 4965, of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the act of March 2, 1895. The provisions of these two sections are undoubtedly applicable to all articles registered for copyright protection as well under the act of January 7, 1904, as under all previous acts, section 8 of the act of January 7, 1894, providing "that, except in so far as this act authorizes and provides for temporary copyright protection during the period and for the purposes herein provided for, it shall not be construed or held to in any manner affect or repeal any of the provisions of the Revised Statutes relating to copyrights and the acts amendatory thereof."

It is probable, however, that the German ambassador had in mind only the question of the importation of copies of the authorized editions of articles actually exhibited at St. Louis in 1904, and registered under the act of January 7, 1904.

In relation thereto, I beg to submit for consideration the following:

1. In the title and first section of the act it is made clear that its provisions relate exclusively to literary, artistic or musical works produced abroad.

2. The purpose of the act is to grant to the authors of such foreign works, their heirs and assigns "the sole liberty of printing, reprinting, publishing, copying, and vending the same within the limits of the United States" (section 1).

3. The articles to be protected under this act are as follows Group A. Original works of the fine arts (paintings, drawings, statues, or statuary), maps, charts, dramas, music, engravings, cuts and prints. Group B. Books, chromos, lithographs and photographs.

4. So far as the articles in Group A are concerned, there are no provisions in any of the United States copyright laws in force to require their manufacture in the United States or to prohibit the importation of any copies, except copies of unauthorized reproductions (sections 4964 and 4965 of the Revised Statutes).

5. In the case of the four articles in Group B, however, the act of March 3, 1891, section 3, provides that in the case of a book, photograph, chromo, or lithograph, the copies "shall be printed from type set within the limits of the United States, or from plates made therefrom, or from negatives or drawings on stone made within the limits of the United States, or from transfers made therefrom;" and the same section further provides that the importation into the United States of copies not thus produced is prohibited during the existence of the copyright.

6. This prohibition of importation follows the proviso to section 4956 of the Revised Statutes enacted by the act of March 3, 1891, requiring the manufacture of the four articles in the United States, and was clearly added to make the American manufacture clause effective. Had there been no stipulation requiring type-setting, etc., in the United States, there would have been no need for the prohibition of importation of copies not made from type set within the United States, etc., and if the requirement of American manufacture is omitted, the prohibition of importation and the exceptions to such prohibition are uncalled for, and hence are null and void.

Obviously, therefore, there can be no question of the right of importation of authorized copies of the articles in Group A, as prohibition of such importation would render entirely nugatory the privileges and protection expressly intended to be secured to the foreign authors and artists of such articles by the act of March 3, 1891; and the only question, therefore, is whether the four articles in Group B, viz., books, chromos, lithographs and photographs, when registered in the Copyright Office as exhibits to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, can be imported without hindrance during the two years' period of protection provided by the act.

The act makes it very clear that this term of protection is not dependent upon the manufacture of the articles in the United States, section 6 of the act expressly providing for an extension of the term of protection to "the full terms provided for in title LX., chapter 3, of the Revised Statutes" if at any time during this period of two years, copies of the original text in the case of a book, or of a translation of it in English, are printed from type set within the United States or from plates made therefrom; while in the case of photographs, chromos, or lithographs, if copies shall be produced printed from negatives, or drawings on stone made within the United States, or from transfers made therefrom.

The matter may, therefore, be summarized as follows:

1. The articles in question are foreign productions; 2. The sole right of vending them in the United States is granted for two years from date of registration in the Copyright Office; 3. The manufacture of the articles in the United States is not required; 4. The prohibition of importation in the act of March 3, 1891, is incidental to the requirement of American manufacture in section 3 of the same act.

This prohibition of importation, therefore, does not apply to the articles named in section 1 of the act of January 7, 1904, which grants interim copyright protection for the term of two years, these articles not being required to be manufactured in the United States, and the whole purport of the act being to secure to the copyright proprietor protection and unhindered sale in the United States for the articles exhibited.

THORVALD SOLBERG, Register of Copyrights.

AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION'S REFORM RESOLUTION NO. 2.

THE AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION has rescinded its Reform Resolution No. 1, and adopted Reform Resolution No. 2, which we print below. The new resolution is substantially the same as the one rescinded, except that it omits all reference to non-copyright books:

REFORM RESOLUTION NO. 2.

Whereas, The American Publishers' Association has adopted a net-price system and entered into an agreement for its maintenance, by which the members of said Association will cut off the supply of all their copyrighted books to any dealer who fails to maintain the net price of any or all copyrighted books published under the net-price system.

1. Now, therefore, be it resolved, That this, the American Booksellers' Association, in convention assembled, accept the said net-price system, with the distinct understanding that it is the intention of the American Publishers' Association to include copyrighted fiction under the net-price system as rapidly as possible; and

2. Furthermore, be it resolved, That all members of the American Booksellers' Association shall give to each of the members of the American Publishers' Association, and to all publishers who co-operate with them in the maintenance of the net-price system, our most cordial support; and that to this end we agree not to buy, not to keep in stock, nor to offer for sale, after due notification, the copyrighted books of any publisher who declines to support the net-price system.

3. Furthermore, be it resolved, That we instruct our Secretary promptly to notify all members of this Association that this resolution is applicable and in force with reference to any publisher who shall have made it manifest that he is unwilling to co-operate with this Association, and with the members of the Publishers' Association, in the maintenance of the net-price system.

4. Furthermore, be it resolved, That this resolution, on being ratified by two-thirds of the members of this Association, voting by formal ballot, shall immediately become a law to each and all of the members of this Association; and if it shall appear upon the presentment of any three members of this Association that a member has purchased, put in stock, or offered for sale, the copyrighted books of a publisher who has been formally denounced, such member shall be expelled from membership in this Association, and all members of this Association shall then and thereafter be restrained from supplying any copyrighted books to such expelled member at a discount from the usual retail price.

5. Furthermore, be it resolved, That all members of this Association shall be restrained from furnishing any copyrighted books, at less than the net or usual retail price, to any dealer who shall have been denounced by the Publishers' Association for cutting the price of net copyrighted books, or for otherwise violating the net-price system, and who shall have been therefore cut off by the members of the Publishers' Association from the supply of their copyrighted books.

6. Furthermore, be it resolved, That all members of this Association shall endeavor to keep in stock and push the sale of net copyrighted books so long as they are reasonably in demand, provided such discount is allowed by the publishers to the dealers as will yield them a living profit; and they shall maintain the net prices of the same in accordance with the terms of the publishers' agreement for the maintenance of the net-price system.

THE ENGLISH PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE eighth annual general meeting of the English Publishers' Association was held on March 24 at Stationers' Hall, in London, upwards of fifty firms being represented. Charles J. Longman, president of the Association, acted as chairman.

According to the report presented, it appears that the most important business that has occupied the attention of the Council during the past year has arisen out of the new education acts. These acts have considerably affected the manner in which the trade in school books has hitherto been carried on. The new authorities which now control all the elementary schools in England, and a portion of the secondary schools, are disposed to make large contracts for the supply of books to all the schools within their respective areas, whereas formerly the books were in many cases bought locally by the managers of individual schools. In some cases authorities have shown a desire to deal with individual publishers rather than through booksellers, which the Council, on various grounds, considers undesirable. Severe competition in regard to obtaining contracts has arisen among the large supply houses, some of whom are themselves publishers of school books, and are thus competitors with those who are publishers pure and simple. These supply houses and some of the smaller retail firms desired that the Association should fix a maximum discount which should be allowed to educational authorities. It appeared, however, that widely divergent views were held as to the point at which the permissible discount should be fixed.

The subject has been carefully gone into by a special school books committee, which held several meetings, and by the Council, with the result that it was found to be impracticable and undesirable to impose any uniform rate of discount on the trade.

In another branch of the same question it has been found necessary to take action in defence of those members of the Association who publish school books. The practice has grown up among some of the supply houses, which themselves publish school books, of quoting preferential terms in favor of their own publications as against those of other firms who nevertheless admitted them to trade privileges. This practice appeared to the Council to be unfair to publishers, and on communicating with the supply houses it was found that their feeling was in favor of abandoning it, provided that the system of giving preferential discounts was given up by all firms engaged in this branch of the trade. Steps have been taken by the Council which, it is hoped, will achieve this very desirable result.

But few cases of underselling were brought to the attention of the Council, and those were successfully dealt with. A few cases of the importation of American reprints into the colonies were detected, and these were dealt with through the help of the colonial agents of the Association.

The election of officers resulted in the choice of Reginald Smith, of Smith, Elder & Co., as president, William Heinemann as vice-president, and C. J. Longman as treasurer. The ballot for the Council resulted in all the old members being re-elected, as follows: George Bell & Sons, A. & C. Black, W. Blackwood & Sons, Cassell & Co., Ltd., Chatto & Windus, William Heinemann, Longmans, Green & Co., Sampson Low, Marston & Co., Ltd., Macmillan Co., Ltd., John Murray, Rivingtons, Simpkin, Marshall, Hamilton, Kent & Co., Ltd., and Smith, Elder & Co.

The Association at present numbers seventy-three, as against seventy-two last year, four firms having joined and three having resigned since January, 1903.

NEW YORK NEWSDEALERS PETITION THE MAYOR.

A PETITION with 12,000 signatures was presented on April 5 to Mayor McClellan by a delegation representing the National Association of Newsdealers, Booksellers and Stationers, praying that he use his influence to prevent the political traffic in newsstands. In the delegation were Thomas F. Martin, president of the National Association; M. E. Golde, president of the local branch; Henry Tietjen, David Schwartz and Abraham Schwartz, and President Adolph Picard and P. J. Henzel of the Albany branch.

The delegation wanted the Mayor to have applications for licenses made to the License Bureau, and asked that whenever the applicant is a new one, an investigation be instituted to see why the old tenant should not continue to have the privilege.

David Schwartz told how he had been ousted from his stand under the elevated railroad at West Broadway and Grand Street after four years' tenure to make room for a son of Municipal Court Officer Brennan. Others told of similar cases. The Mayor said he would give the matter immediate attention.

A NEWSBOYS' ASSOCIATION.

ABOUT one hundred and fifty newsboys met on April 2 at 414 Grand Street, New York, to ratify the organization of the Newsboys' Association of Greater New York. "Jack" Sullivan, a Park Row newsboy, the president of the Association, explained that the principal object of the association is to establish little clubs on the East Side, in Harlem and in Brooklyn, where the "newsies" might meet and be entertained and, incidentally, instructed, so that those who cared could learn something that would help them to get better jobs when they become too old to sell newspapers. In concluding his remarks he said: "Most of the fellers now hang out in saloons and in joints in the Bowery, and what we want is a place of our own—a regular club, where we can have bath rooms, books, pool tables, dumbbells, Indian clubs and a good gymnasium. If some of these millionaires who are dropping their dough in every ten-acre lot in the country for to make libraries, or putting up monuments to themselves 'way off in the backwoods, would come down with some of their pile right here in New York they would do heaps more good. But we ain't going to lay around till the world blows up waiting for some feller to give us a boost with some chink; we's goin' to have regular dues, and we's goin' to have a little pile of our own."

The association is incorporated, and already has a membership of two hundred and fifty newsboys in Greater New York.

LITHOGRAPHERS SEEK PEACE.

IT is reported that there is every prospect of the dead-lock between the lithographers' unions and the employers being ended in an amicable way this week or next. Secret conferences are now going on between the officers of the Employing Lithographers' Association, East, West and Pacific, and the International Lithographers' Protective and Beneficial Association, which are friendly in their character. Nothing is to be given out of the proceedings until a decision of some kind is reached. The entire situation is being gone over again, and the conferences so far have proceeded in an amicable spirit. In many of the cities the differences have already been compromised and work resumed.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MRS. ABBY MORTON DIAZ, a well-known writer of books for children, died at her home in Bellmont, Mass., April 1. She was born at Plymouth, Mass., in 1821. Her father was a zealous abolitionist, and the daughter, when a young girl, threw herself heart and soul into the workings of the anti-slavery movement in her native town of Plymouth. She was secretary of a juvenile society there, which did its part in revolutionizing public sentiment. Her father joined the celebrated Brook Farm Community, building a house and moving there with his family. Abby Morton went to Brook Farm some time before the family and remained after they left. She wrote fifteen or twenty books between 1864 and 1887, among which are "The Schoolmaster's Trunk," "The King's Lily and Rosebud," "The William Henry Letters," "Jimmy Johns," "King Grimalkum and Pussyanita," "Polly Cologne," "The John Spicer Lectures," etc.

GUY WETMORE CARRYL, one of the more talented of our young writers, died April 1 in Roosevelt Hospital, New York. Mr. Carryl was born in New York, March 4, 1873, and was graduated from Columbia University in 1895. His first literary work was done on The New York Times in 1893, when he wrote a graphic and sympathetic account of the last hours of Edwin Booth. He became the editor of Munsey's Magazine, and two years later became the Paris correspondent of Harper & Brothers. From 1898 to 1899 he was the foreign correspondent of Munsey's, Outing, Collier's Weekly, and other publications. Among his books were "Fables for the Frivolous," "Mother Goose for the Grown Ups," "Grimm Tales Made Gay," "The Lieutenant Governor," "The Transgression of Andrew Vane" and "Zut, and Other Parisians." His home was at Swampscott, Mass. His bungalow there, which he had named "Single Blessedness," was recently destroyed by fire. At the time it was reported that he had lost the completed manuscript of a new story. This, however, he managed to save. The exposure incident to the fire brought on the illness that resulted in his death.

MISS FRANCES POWER COBBE, reformer, educator and author, died April 5, at Hengwrt, N. Wales. Miss Cobbe was born at Newbridge, County of Dublin, Ireland, December 4, 1822, and was a great-granddaughter of Charles Cobbe, Archbishop of Dublin. In 1857, after a year's travel in Italy and the East, she joined Mary Carpenter at Bristol in the conduct of schools and reformatories for girls. She contributed articles to numerous magazines and weeklies, beginning in 1867, and was for seven years an editorial writer for The Echo, of London. Later she wrote for The Standard. During this period of her career Miss Cobbe devoted her principal attention to woman's suffrage, property rights for women and vivisection. She was one of the foremost opponents of vivisection in England, and when her outspokenness on the subject closed to her the columns of the newspapers, she established a monthly magazine, in which she handled it in her usual daring style. Miss Cobbe was the founder and for eighteen years the honorary secretary of the Victoria Street Society for the Protection of Animals from Vivisection. Since 1898 she had been president of the British Union for the Abolition of Vivisection. Her first published book was "An Essay on Intuitive Morals," the first part of which was published in 1855, the second appearing in 1857. In all she published thirty-one books, chiefly on ethical or social subjects. She also brought out an edition of Theodore Parker's works.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

ACCORDING to the London "Newspaper Press Directory" for 1904, 2595 magazines are now published in the United Kingdom.

THE title of Mrs. Humphry Ward's new novel, which begins serial publication in the June Harper's, is "The Marriage of William Ashe." The scenes of the story are laid in a time previous to that of "Lady Rose's Daughter."

A. RADCLYFFE DUGMORE went all the way to Newfoundland two years ago to get many photographs of salmon fishing and caribou hunting for Country Life in America. He returned with a hundred plates, which all proved useless because of a defective camera. He made the trip again last year to secure the photographs that will appear in the Country Life in America vacation number for June.

PERSONAL NOTES.

FRANKLIN F. BIGELOW, who has for several years been the travelling representative of Longmans, Green & Co., has associated himself with A. S. Barnes & Co., and will in future represent them as traveller and salesman.

MISS LOUISE SCRIBNER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scribner, was married on the 5th inst. to George R. D. Schieffelin, at St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, Bishop Greer, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Layton Parks, officiating.

JOHN A. HOLDEN, who a couple of months ago severed his long connection with Thomas Whittaker, has associated himself with the Bronx Borough Bank, 731 Tremont Avenue, New York, acting as its representative in opening up new lines of business.

WILLIAM A. STEWART, for many years in charge of the advertising department of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and Miss Mabel L. Eaton, of Collinsville, Conn., were married in the forenoon of April 5 at the Judson Memorial Church, South Washington Square, New York. They sailed on the 7th inst. by the Esperanza for Vera Cruz, and will spend two weeks in Mexico, returning early in May.

BUSINESS NOTES.

AVOCA, IA.—C. E. Brown, bookseller, has sold out to James G. Ruckle.

BOWLING GREEN, KY.—Thomas J. Smith, of T. J. Smith & Co., booksellers, died recently.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—It was not Charles T. Dearing, the bookseller, but his brother, Arthur T. Dearing, who died a couple of weeks ago. Mr. Arthur T. Dearing was connected a number of years with his brother's business, and was highly esteemed in business and social circles.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Frederick J. Quimby Company, formerly of Boston, have established themselves at 425 Fifth Avenue.

TIPTON, IA.—Seitsinger & Yates, booksellers, have been succeeded by Elliott & Yates.

TULSA, I. T.—L. L. Hall, bookseller, has been succeeded by W. P. Ritchie.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish at once a new edition of "A Journey to Lhasa and Central Tibet," by Sarat Chandra Das, which is timely in view of the present invasion of Tibet by the British, and the recent events in the East in general.

ISAAC PITMAN & SONS, New York, will shortly issue "Insurance Office Organization, Management and Accounts," by T. E. Young, author of "Insurance," and Richard Masters; also, "Pitman's French Commercial Reader" and "Pitman's German Commercial Reader."

DODD, MEAD & Co. have made arrangements to publish next fall Lucas Malet's new novel, "The Paradise of Dominic," describing life in modern English society, and more particularly the part played by the new rich. They announce that the price of the souvenir edition of Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" has been raised to $50.

JOHN LANE will publish this spring a new novel by Charles Kennett Burrow, author of "Patricia of the Hills," etc., which will be entitled "The Yeoman, the story of a man's love for his ancestral home." The scenes are laid in Dorsetshire, where the author lived for some years. Mr. Burrow was for a time assistant editor of the London Academy, and has contributed verse and prose to The Pall Mall Gazette and other English publications, besides doing much critical work.

THE April dinner of The Booksellers' League will be given at the Aldine Association, 111 Fifth Avenue, on the evening of April 13, at 6:30 o'clock. The speakers of the evening will be Charles Sprague Smith, author of "Barbizon Days," etc., and Rufus Rockwell Wilson, author of "Rambles in Colonial By-ways," "City of Washington," and other historical works. Those who wish to attend the dinner must notify W. G. Preston, 372 Fifth Avenue, New York, before April 11.

JAMES POTT & Co. will soon publish a romance by Miss Mary C. Francis, author of "A Son of Destiny," entitled "Dalrymple," a stirring tale of Revolutionary days. The grewsome but fascinating chapters devoted to the horrors of life on board the British prison ship, The Jersey, are said to equal anything in modern fiction. The book very appropriately appears in the year in which the long-delayed monument to the eleven thousand martyrs of the prison ship is to be erected in New York.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY have just added to their Library of Popular Fiction Thomas Dixon, Jr.'s latest story, "The One Woman," with illustrations by B. West Clinedinst. They also announce a new series of copyright books of fiction in the Library of Popular Fiction, including six novels by Robert Neilson Stephens, namely, "Captain Ravenshaw," "The Mystery of Murray Davenport," "An Enemy to the King," "The Continental Dragoon," "The Road to Paris," and "A Gentleman Player;" also, "Hope Loring," by Lilian Bell, and "Barbara Ladd," by Charles G. D. Roberts.

LEMCKE & BUECHNER have just brought out the ninth volume in their excellent series of Monographs on Artists. The volume treats of Peter Paul Rubens, and is written by the editor of the series, Professor Hermann Knackfuss, of the Cassel Royal Academy of Arts. The work is considered to be one of the best short sketches of the painter, and in the original has gone through seven editions in Germany in less than seven years, still holding its own at the side of more elaborate and ambitious works on the subject. The translation has been made by Louise M. Richter, who has had the assistance of Hobart Cust. The text is illustrated with 122 pictures reproduced from paintings and drawings.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on the 16th inst. a full and authoritative biography of "John A. Andrew," the great war governor of Massachusetts, by Henry Greenleaf Pearson, in two handsome octavo volumes, with photogravure portraits; "Methods of Industrial Peace," by Nicholas P. Gilman, who treats concretely of such important economic subjects as the combination of employers and of employees, collective bargaining, incorporating trades unions, trade arbitration, etc.; "Essays for the Day," by Theodore T. Munger, the keynote of which is "the interplay of Christianity and literature;" "The Neighbor, the natural history of human contacts," by Professor N. S. Shaler, who presents a study of human relations with special reference to race prejudices such as arise in the contact between Jews and negroes on the one hand and the Aryan people on the other; also, "High Noon," a collection of stories, both sombre and cheerful, by Alice Brown, author of "Meadow Grass."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS are planning to publish on April 14 the following books: "What Handwriting Indicates," by John Rexford, a thoroughly practical handbook which will enable any one to ascertain traits of character from the handwriting; "Bog Trotting for Orchids," by Grace Greylock Niles, who is an enthusiastic bog trotter and who, in this book, blazes the way for very attractive spring expeditions in the country swamps; a popular edition of "The Mohawk Valley," by W. Max Reid, which describes in an attractive narrative the picturesque life of the early settlers in this historic region; also, "Mr. Roosevelt and the Presidency," by A Spectator, a timely little pamphlet treating with keen discrimination of the position taken by Mr. Roosevelt on the more important of the pending issues and questions of the day, particularly in connec- with the coming presidential campaign. They have in press a volume on "Earthquakes, or, the New Seismology," by Major Clarence Edward Dutton, U. S. A.; "Religion of Ancient Egypt," the series of lectures delivered this spring at the New York Union Theological Seminary by Professor Georg Steindorff, of Leipzig, edited by the Rev. John P. Peters, of St. Michael's Church, New York, and Professor Morris Jastrow, of the University of Pennsylvania; and "The Mystic Mid-Region," a work on the scenery, story and people of the great southwestern deserts, by Arthur J. Burdick. They also announce two novels, of which one is entitled "The Master's Violin," by Miss Myrtle Reed, which is said to resemble in character her charming "Lavender and Old Lace;" the other is the literary love-story which has been running in The Critic under the title of "The Jessica Letters."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amounts should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

1000 to Australia

A cable just received (April 4th) from Tower & Lewis, Sydney, Australia, asks for 500 each of these two. On March 19th and 26th we told you in these columns how well the ball was rolling; since then, it has gone around the world.

And people are appreciative here at home:

"'He that Eateth Bread with Me' is a moving drama, told with passion and with literary art."
—Chicago Tribune.

"One cannot do justice to 'Tinker' in print. Advise your friends to make his acquaintance for themselves." —N. Y. Globe.

"Charm and Beauty"

"Certainly the most original of recent books."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"A book which any woman would be humbly proud to have written."
—Denver News.

"Fragrant of good thoughts."
—N. Y. World.

"A charm and beauty not easy to exaggerate." —N. Y. Globe.

"You must read it"

"Important for every intelligent American to read."
—Philadelphia Telegraph.

"The message of the book is one for every citizen of every town desirous of good government."
—Newark News.

"One that no reader, outside of the chasers after the last best-seller, can afford to neglect."
—San Francisco Town Talk.

Miscellaneous Books in Leather Bindings

Messrs. JAMES FINCH & CO., Ltd.

INVITE the special attention of the trade to their Catalogue of Bound Books, which contains an excellent selection of Standard Works in English Literature in various Leather and Cloth Bindings, from the cheapest to the best. The stock on hand is one of the largest and most varied in London, affording a magnificent selection, and all orders have the Firm's personal attention. In addition, they possess exceptional facilities for dealing with every description of Binding, and customers may rely upon their orders being executed with care and promptitude.

All work is guaranteed. Any book which is not considered satisfactory will be immediately rectified or exchanged free of charge.

Every description of Miscellaneous Binding undertaken, special attention being given to the cleaning and restoration of valuable Old Books and Manuscripts. Estimates and quotations will be furnished on application, but owing to the varying grades of work, it is specially requested that, in sending binding orders, customers will kindly state an approximate cost, and the best possible value will be given for any price named.

In addition to the styles catalogued, Messrs. J. FINCH & CO., Ltd., have always in stock a large selection of books in Extra Bindings with special designs, many of these being exceedingly choice specimens of elaborate hand-tooled work. Particulars will be sent on application..

The trade only supplied, no retail business of any kind being transacted.

The list of publications includes the "Royal" Edition, with additional matter, of Green's "Short History of the English People," illustrated, 4 vols., the "Hampstead" Keats, the "Hampstead" Shakespeare, 4 vols. (which includes Sidney Lee's "Life of Shakespeare," authentic illustrations, and photogravure portraits), and other standard works.

Catalogues gratis and postfree on application.

 Messrs. J. FINCH & CO., Ltd., will be very glad if members of the trade visiting England will kindly call at 33 Paternoster Row, where they will be welcomed, even if no business results.
